June 7

Journalism announces Mayborn scholars
DENTON (UNT), Texas -- The University of North Texas Mayborn Graduate Institute of Journalism has awarded $190,000 in scholarships to students for the 2005-2006 academic year.

Nineteen students, all earning master's degrees in journalism, will each receive $10,000. The institute is named for longtime newspaper publisher and civic leader Frank W. Mayborn, who owned the Temple Daily Telegram, Killeen Daily Herald and KCEN-TV/Channel 6, the Temple region's NBC affiliate, before his death in 1987.

UNT's nationally accredited journalism graduate program became the Frank W. Mayborn Graduate Institute of Journalism in 1999 after receiving funding from the Frank W. & Anyse Sue Mayborn Foundation Advise and Consult Fund at Communities Foundation of Texas. Through this gift, the Mayborn Graduate Institute is able to offer up to $200,000 in scholarships every year. The scholarships are for one academic year and can be renewed for an additional year.

This year's Mayborn Scholarship recipients are:
- Hedish Conner from Houston
- Tricia Lynn Damerson from Burleson
- Christie Jones from Los Angeles
- Don Jones from Fort Worth
- Rebecca Ekpe from Accra, Ghana
- Stephanie Landa from Fort Worth
- Randy Lee Loftis from Richardson
- James Lucas from Dallas
- Trevor Naughton from Round Rock
- Nicole Osei from Arlington
- Britney Porter from Frisco
- Haven Holsinger Rowland from Lewisville
- Hannah Seddelmeyer from Corpus Christi
- Rumee Singh from Kathmandu, Nepal
- Jacob Taylor from San Angelo
- Rhashaun Trammell from Pine Bluff, Ark.
- David Wachanga from Nairobi, Kenya
- Megan Weadock from Las Cruces, N.M.
- David Woodford from Henderson

UNT News Service Phone Number: (940) 565-2108
Contact: Nancy Kolsti (940) 565-3509
Email: nkolsti@unt.edu